

The winner of the 2005 Digital Preservation Award was announced by Loyd Grossman at the British Museum on 22nd November 2005. The PREMIS Working Group - a team of 30 experts from five countries - was awarded the prestigious Digital Preservation Award at the Conservation Awards ceremony.

Loyd Grossman present the winning prize to Brian Lavoie and Rebecca Guenther, representing the PREMIS team

DPC chair Lynne Brindley

The DP Award shortlisted project teams

All the winners for the Conservation Award

Conservation Award winners and event organizers. All the winners for the Conservation Award winners and event please go to Conservation Awards 2005