

Fully Funded Training Placement

Location: University of York, King's Manor, York

Position Type: Full-time, Fixed term till Feb 2015

Salary: £18,446

Closing date: 24/08/2012

Applications are invited for a highly motivated individual to take up a training placement funded by the Heritage Lottery Fund through the IfA Workplace Learning Bursary scheme.

The training to be provided is in Digital Archaeology focussing on digital preservation, data management and web publication skills. The placement will be jointly hosted by The Archaeology Data Service and Internet Archaeology, and will be based at their offices in the King's Manor, York.

This position is aimed at someone who is at an early stage of their archaeological career, either as a graduate or an archaeologist working in the commercial or public sector, or an established archaeologist who wishes to develop new skills. It is expected that the post-holder will use their experience in order to pursue a career in this field, or to apply ICT skills in their existing employment.

The position is available for 12 months from October 2012
