

Digital Technologist

Position Type: Full Time

The Gates Archive is searching for an enthusiastic, collaborative, and creative digital technologist to work closely with the archive team in building out an innovative, new private family archive. This position works with technological systems to support the management, preservation and access of digital archival materials.

Responsibilities: The successful candidate will bring expert-level knowledge to lead the development of the technical architecture for the archive, including:

- Digital preservation strategy and policy development
- Implementation and execution of digital asset management and digital preservation activities
- System architecture development for the management of digital assets
- Workflow review and refinement for the management of born-digital materials
- Statistics compiling and reporting to improve digital asset management
- Other organizational duties as required

For more details please see: <http://jobs.code4lib.org/job/6163/>