The CLOCKSS Archive

- presented by Randy Kiefer
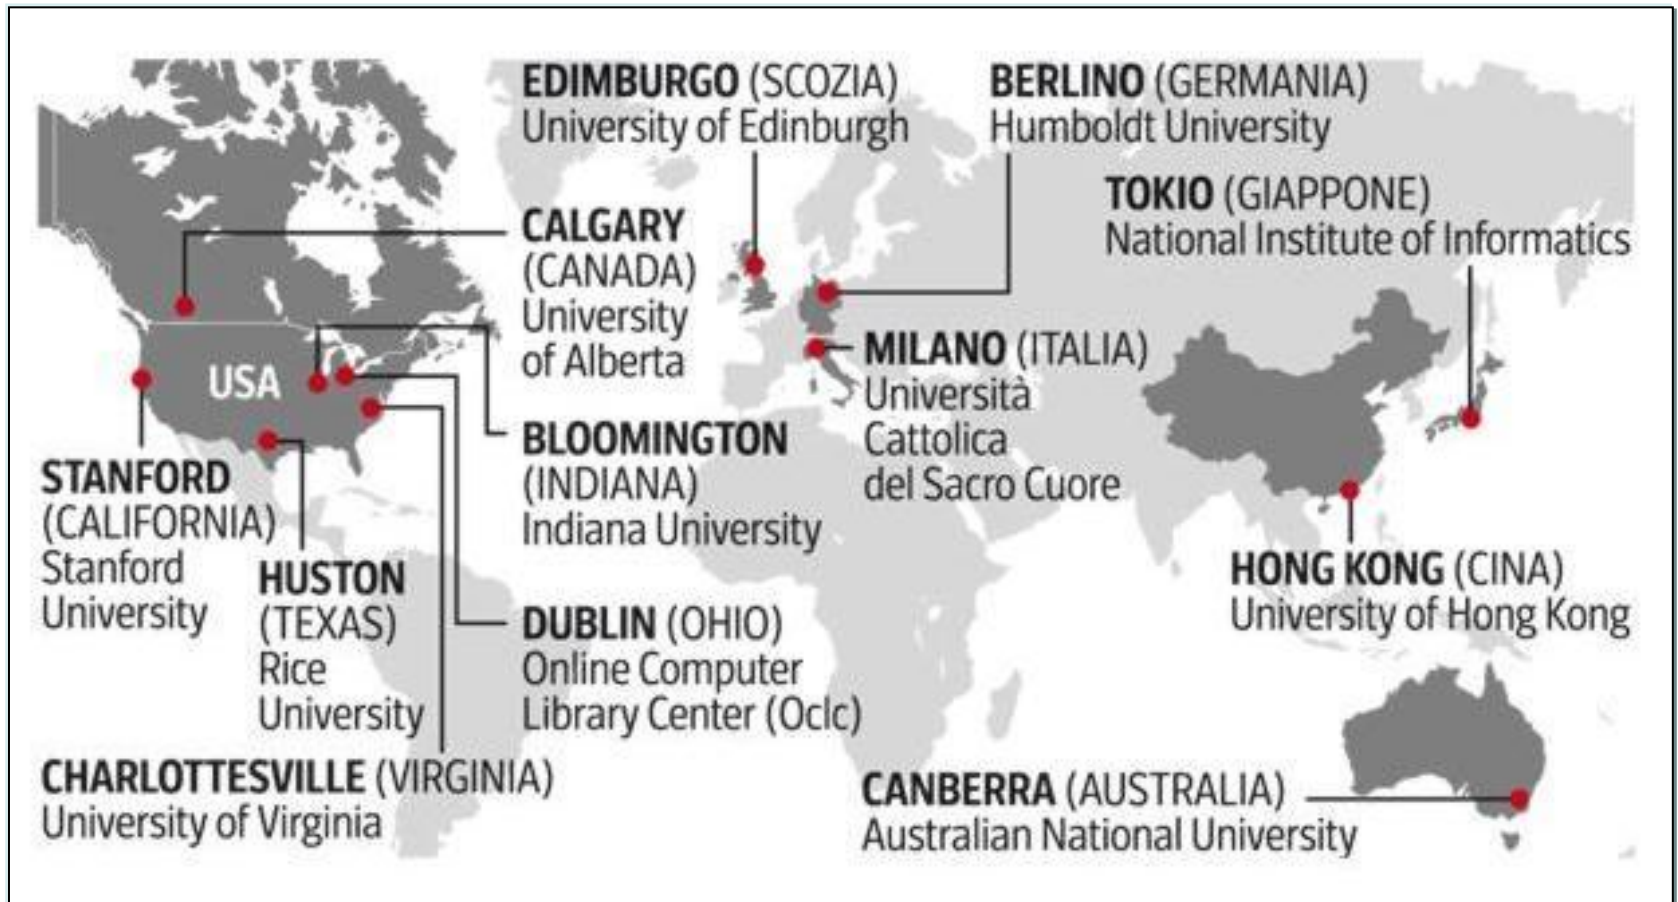

Principles of the CLOCKSS Archive

❖ Community Governed

❖ Global Approach: Decentralized Preservation

❖ Proven Technology using the open-source software LOCKSS

❖ Commitment to Open Access

Global View of Archive Nodes

EDIMBURGO (SCOZIA)
University of Edinburgh

BERLINO (GERMANIA)
Humboldt University

CALGARY (CANADA)
University of Alberta

TOKIO (GIAPPONE)
National Institute of Informatics

MILANO (ITALIA)
Università Cattolica del Sacro Cuore

BLOOMINGTON (INDIANA)
Indiana University

USA

STANFORD (CALIFORNIA)
Stanford University

HUSTON (TEXAS)
Rice University

DUBLIN (OHIO)
Online Computer Library Center (Oclc)

HONG KONG (CINA)
University of Hong Kong

CHARLOTTESVILLE (VIRGINIA)
University of Virginia

CANBERRA (AUSTRALIA)
Australian National University

CLOCKSS

3

Beginning in 2011- Some benchmarks

- The CLOCKSS Archive as of December, 2010
  - Supporting Libraries = 86
  - Participating Publishers = 33
  - Archive Nodes installed = 7

- The CLOCKSS Archive today:
  - ❖ Supporting Libraries = 704
  - ❖ Participating Publishers = 170
  - ❖ Number of Archive Nodes installed = 12

- ❖ What's on the horizon?
  - ❖ Effect of Open Access
  - ❖ Focus on small publishers

Thank You!

Questions or Comments?

Randy Kiefer

Executive Director

The CLOCKSS Archive

mailto: randy.kiefer@clockss.org

Summary

	LOCKSS	CLOCKSS
Content custody	You or your community	The CLOCKSS Archive
Access when	Publisher server unavailable	Not available from any source until triggered
Access to whom	Authorized users	Everyone when triggered
Preservation technology	Open source LOCKSS	Open source LOCKSS
Access fees for content	None	None
Governance	Stanford & each network	Board of Directors