2025-2026

About the DPC Supporter Program

The DPC is vendor and technology neutral; a global community of more than 170 agencies working together towards a sustainable future for our digital heritage. The DPC Supporter Program enables a structured, ongoing dialogue between members and solution providers. It safeguards our independence whilst enabling vendors and solution providers to access and track the changing needs and challenges our members face.

Accessing the DPC Supporter Program

The DPC Supporter Program is open to organizations which have established relationships with the digital preservation community. We seek recommendations from our members about providers of digital preservation services, solutions, tools or consultancy whose values are aligned with those of the DPC. The digital preservation community is supported by tools, technology and professional services from many different types of organization and it is in our members' interests to ensure that as many as possible are able to engage with the global digital preservation community through this program.

Participation in the DPC Supporter Program requires a fee of £5,000 payable at the point of registration and valid for 12 months.

The DPC Supporter Program is accessible to agencies of all types and sizes on an equitable basis. Therefore:

- Larger agencies, such as global technology companies, conglomerates and groups, with more than 250 employees or with a listing on relevant stock market indices will be invited to participate but with a surcharge which recognises the size of the company.
- Sole traders, micro-agencies which operate on a charitable basis, may apply for a discount which ensures they are able to participate equitably.
- New entrants into the digital preservation market, whether new or existing agencies, with products or services relevant to the digital preservation community may apply for a discount on a trial basis provided they can meet the other requirements.
- Prospective supporters will be asked for business information to ensure the fee matches the size and nature of their company.
