Trust and the preservation of e-Journals

The KB international e-Depot

Marcel Ras
31st January 2012

- KB is national library of The Netherlands (founded in 1789)
- Responsible for collecting, cataloguing, preserving and providing permanent access to publications with Dutch imprint
- 275 fte
- (voluntary) deposit library since 1974
- Moving towards a digital library
- And … we will merge with the National Archives in 2013

- LTA for international academic literature for Dutch scholars
- National deposit
- Operational since 2003
- Based on international standards (OAIS)
- Integrated with other library modules
- Restricted access (on-site) & ILL
- 18 million e-journal articles
- Also e-books, digitised materials, websites
- Continuous research and development (EU projects on DP)
- DIAS = end of life

KB

Infrastructure

- Development 2nd generation DP system
- Preservation functionalities

Service

- International e-Depot as a European service
- Guarantee access to international, academic publications for the European researcher community

Access

- Post-cancellation
- Trigger events
- On-site
- On-line
- ILL / pay per view document delivery service

Stakeholders

- Researchers, Libraries and Publishers
- Co-operation with
  - Service providers
  - Registries
  - Safe places network

Next steps

- Develop new business model
- Implement new infrastructure
- Set up partnerships
- Continues research & development

KB

The international e-Depot guarantees permanent access to scholarly publications

Marcel Ras

marcel.ras@kb.nl

Program manager International e-Depot

National Library of The Netherlands (KB)